Philip Lakeman Ceramic Bali, formerly known as Pesatuan Ceramic founded in 1994 by Philip Lakeman & Graham Oldroyd. Philip & Graham collaborated for many years, bringing their skills, technology & design capability to the forefront of modern architecture handmade ceramic tile & hand painted ceramic tile.

Philip being the sole owner of the company since 2012, continues to push the boundaries in both ceramic design & technology.

“ All production processes are by hand - from producing the tile, decoration & glazing. I want each tile to be a handcrafted work, an art piece in itself with no two tiles looking exactly the same. When installed they create an illusion, a modulation in both tone & texture. This is what makes our tiles unique. Inspiration for the Philip Lakeman Ceramic Bali to design process takes historical references from many regions of the globe, including Asia, The Middle East & North Africa. I strive to produce ceramic tile with a fusion of historical elements combined with a contemporary vision “ says Lakeman.

Philip Lakeman Ceramic Bali continues to design & produce an ever expanding range of exquisite handmade ceramic tile, murals, landscape objects & ceramic decorative pieces. The studio can be commissioned to create custom designed ceramics for hotel & commercial projects such as restaurants, spas, private villas, residences & public art spaces.

Philip Lakeman Ceramic Bali is at the cutting edge of design in the world of handmade ceramic tile & hand painted ceramic tile with an ever changing range of products that will provide an exciting & a fresh approach to your project.

Ceramic materials are something not always possible to exert total control over. It is the product of a combination of water, earth & fire, with the end result depending on both the hand & the very nature of the elements. Philip Lakeman Ceramic Bali experiments extensively with the aesthetic & the material qualities of these elements, with the view to creating not only a product but also an authentic work of art.

Philip Lakeman Ceramic Bali showcases the design & production of traditional handmade ceramic tile making, using a unique sand casting technique where each tile finished by hand-decorating & glazing. Whether it be the intricate textures of our Deco ceramic tiles or the vibrant surfaces applied to our Urban ceramic tile collection, you are assured of a unique & an exciting journey into the world of ceramic art. Our unique technology combined with handcrafted details sets Philip Lakeman Ceramic Bali apart from other studios. Our products deliver a warm & refreshing statement, inspired by the harmony of natural colours & surfaces.

It is our aim to be at the cutting edge of technical & aesthetic innovation in handmade ceramic tile by studying the materials & production methods that will enable us to always be a reference point for our clientele.
