

RIANI RATTAN

Handwoven premium
rattan items for luxurious living. Produced sustainably in Indonesia.

For millennia, the indigenous peoples of Kalimantan have been producing rattan pieces from locally grown vines and using methods that have been passed down through many generations.

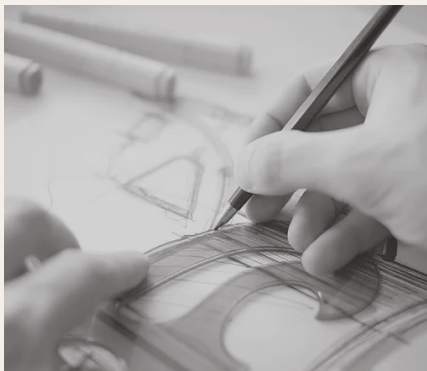

Some of these quality vines are then processed and crafted by the islanders of Lombok for their day to day needs. This is a skill harnessed and developed into handicrafts appreciated across the seas for their unique patterns and durability.

Our Production Process

---

Our products are designed and woven together by women on the island of Lombok, followed by natural finishing processes by the design team of Riani Rattan. All members of our Riani Rattan projects are responsible for a quality product that will be a part of your cozy environment.

Design

Riani Rattan works alongside crafters to ensure the highest quality product. We design to cater to the needs of high end hospitality providers.

Weaving

We hand-select premium quality rattan strands for each collection. These are woven together according to the items design and style of weaving required.

Finishing & Coloring

Our finishing team colour our products naturally, using traditional methods without the use of any harsh chemicals.

Our Products

We have a variety of products ranging from serveware, baskets, bins, decor pieces and containers.

Empowering women through education to create high quality
weaving, while practicing fair trade.

We create high-end
rattan products with functionality and
durability in mind

Using sustainable eco-friendly methods.
